WHAT'S INCLUDED

We understand that clothing gets wrinkled in transit. That's why the first thing we do when we receive your items is hang and steam everything, remove lint, re-tie bows and do whatever else is needed to get each piece looking its best.

Once the images have been created, we edit them to remove the background and any flaws, wrinkles or other undesirable elements that appear in the photo. We also match each piece of clothing to the photos on our calibrated monitors to assure color accuracy then post the images to a secure client directory for your review. We'll then retake any photos that fall short of your expectations (no extra charge) until you're thrilled with your photos.

After you approve your images, we'll provide a download link to your photos

- High-Res (300dpi) versions for printing in catalogs, magazines & brochures
